Traditional Scheduling

VS

Labor Management

Optimal Management Means Leadership

Managers
 don't have the right tools or experience to manage a P&L, compromising financial performance

Leaders
 grow skills with better business acumen and improve competencies that managers may not have realized they had

Managing Budgets

Budgeting labor costs by week without considering weather, holidays and more

Knowledge of costs in any given day during a specific shift allows you to plan ahead

Budget-Making (or Breaking) Accuracy

Lack of accuracy that negatively affects your growth % estimate due to over/understaffing

Accuracy within 3-5% that allows you to schedule staff at the right time and volume

Get Time Back to Focus on Guests

4 Hours average a week spent creating a schedule on spreadsheets or with pen and paper

75% Less time to create a schedule with templates and forecasting tools

Employee Predictability and Stability

Frustrated employees and managers who don't have the predictability to plan and enjoy time away from work

Happy employees and managers with more flexible and stable schedules, leading to a better work-life balance HotSchedules enables us to run profitable, strong operations. Our labor costs are one of our biggest expenses, and when you're operating 9 locations and have people onboarding at any given time, every hour counts. With the templates, you know exactly what your costs are going to be.
